Assessment rollback poses question for schools

The recent decision by the Lake County Board of Tax Review to "roll back" property assessments on a county-wide basis to 1972 levels has left a large question mark in its wake for area school administrators.

"The only definite statement that can be made now is that it isn't going to help us," said Ken Wierschem, Business Manager at Antioch Community High School.

Henry Meyer, Superintendent of the Antioch Grade School District, commented that what ever happens now, "It doesn't look healthy (for the schools)."

Emmons School Superintendent John Kakacek said he had no official notice, but that the possible delay in getting tax bills out would limit the funds available at the beginning of the next school year.

Peter Palombi, Superintendent of the Lake Villa Grade School District was much more specific. He said that the rollback would hurt the district in two ways. First, the district will be losing an increase in tax revenues, based on higher assessed valuations, that the schools "need desperately." Second, district voters have just recently approved a 40-cent increase in the tax rate. Rather than the $100,000 increase in revenue that was anticipated from the higher tax rate, the roll back in assessments means a loss of "anywhere from $15,000 to $24,000," Palombi said.

"When you add the inflation factor on top of that, it is staggering," commented the Lake Villa superintendent. "The revenue we anticipated to improve our programs may be needed merely to maintain the status quo."

Grass Lake School Superintendent William Hart stated, "We're in the same boat as everybody else," adding that the rollback would affect not only schools, "but all taxing bodies."

"We deferred a referendum last Fall because of the higher re-assessment," Hart commented. The new decision could mean an additional loss of revenue of up to $15,000, he said, depending upon the extent.

None of the schools has received any official word precisely defining the situation, except that some had obtained a copy of a news release from the Board of Review announcing their decision to roll back the assessments from those that had been published for most of the townships in the Fall.

Putting the situation in perspective, Antioch High School Superintendent Warren Polley pointed out that the schools are operating now on the money they are receiving from the 1972 assessment. These tax funds, however, are based on the "equalized" value of property, after the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs placed a "multiplier" on assessments in the various townships.

Polley said that the 1972 equalized valuation for the high school district was $79,000,000. He added that he could not estimate what the valuation would be without the multiplier, since the district covers parts of three townships, each with a separate multiplier, and since he could not estimate the value of improvements made since the 1972 assessment.

"It would be nice if we could say that it will represent a loss of 'X' number of dollars, but we can't," Wierschem added.

The two men also indicated that the DLGA may yet be allowed to impose a multiplier. The Board of Review has directed States Attorney Jack Hoogasian to file suit against the DLGA if such an attempt is made. However, no one can guarantee how such a case would be decided.

Wierschem stated that the school is now operating at the maximum allowable tax levy. Since 70 percent of the school's revenue comes from local property taxes, any reduction in assessed valuations would bring a nearly corresponding decrease in revenue for the local school.

Another big question mark for the schools, Wierschem said, is State Aid. There is no assurance yet as to how much State Aid the high school will receive for the next school year, he stated. State Aid is based in part on the assessed valuation per pupil of the district. "We won't know until April what our State Aid payments will be," Wierschem commented. The assessment controversy could delay that further.

Grade School Superintendent Meyer revealed that he had been told at a meeting several weeks ago that State officials could not guarantee full funding for the State Aid bill this year. "They aren't saying that we won't get full funding, but they are telling us not to make too firm plans for it," Meyer said.

He added that grade school districts in the State are currently discriminated against through the State Aid formulas. He said that he has been

Plan Commission takes stand against North Main apartments

The Antioch Planning Commission voted Thursday night to oppose further re-zoning for high density uses on the east side of North Main Street from the Village park to North Avenue.

Putting their decision into immediate effect, the Commission members then voted to reaffirm their previous recommendation to deny the request of Harold and Alice Young for R-5 zoning on property they own at and behind 701 North Main.

The Young petition now goes back to the Zoning Board of Appeals for a recommendation from that body. The ZBA has already held a public hearing on the case and had asked the Planning Commission to re-evaluate its previous negative recommendation in the light of additional evidence (architect's sketches) submitted at the hearing. The recommendations of both bodies will be forwarded to the Village Board for formal approval or denial of the petition.

Before taking up the Young petition, the planners discussed a proposed preliminary map of land uses for the entire Village and surrounding areas. The proposed map, drawn by professional planner Bruce Christensen, designates general areas for low density, moderate density and high density residential, commercial, industrial, and public uses. Ultimately - "four or five months,"

Christensen said - such a map, in greater detail, will become part of the Comprehensive Plan, to be used as a guide for future development and zoning decisions in and around the Village.

After two hours of discussion concerning various areas on the map, the planners wound up on North Main Street and dealt with the problem of what to do about requests for multiple-family zoning along the east side of that street. There were actually two questions under discussion at the same time: how to designate the area on the preliminary map, and what to recommend on the Young petition.

Christensen pointed out that the more general decision of how to show the entire area on the map should be answered first. That, he said, would establish a guideline for the Young property and any other re-zoning requests which might be submitted at a future date. "Whatever you do, go one way or the other, but not piecemeal," Christensen said.

Members of the Commission asked what would happen if the whole area were allowed to be developed with high density residential uses. Christensen explained that with R-5 zoning between 500 and 800 units would be permitted between the park and North Avenue on the east side of the Street, depending on the maximum density allowed.

"I don't have the specific figures with me tonight," the professional planner said, "but I know that the number of units would generate at least 500 cars going out in the morning and coming back in the evening."

Don Amundsen expressed concern over the effect of denying the Young petition after two high density projects have already been built in the area. Many property owners on North Main, according to Amundsen, are looking forward to selling their lots for development at some future date, and seem to feel they will have no problem with the re-zoning. "We're going to upset a lot of people either way we go," he said.

"Just because a mistake was made in the past doesn't mean we have to continue it," added Bruce Jablonski.

Christensen pointed out that even with the "urban residential" designation suggested for the area, densities of up to five units per acre would still be possible. Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz added that, within that limit, the Young's could still put 20 to 25 units on their land. Zoning classifications of R-1, R-2, or R-3 would be allowed within the urban residential designation.

After voting to show the entire North Main Street area as urban residential, the Commission members voted to deny the Young's request for R-5 zoning because it "exceeds the density planned for that area."

Deadline nears for voter registration

Tuesday, February 19, is the last day that residents of Lake County (or any part of Illinois) can register to vote in the March 19 Primary Election, according to County Clerk Grace Mary Stern.

The March 19 election will also include a referendum on the proposed Regional Transit Authority, on which only registered voters will be permitted to vote.

State law requires that registration of voters be closed for 28 days before, and two days after, all county, State and national elections. A qualified resident who had not registered before February 19 would not be able to register until March 21.

Residents of Antioch Township may register at the township office, 800½ Main, next to the police station. The office is open every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and Wednesdays and Saturdays from 9:00 until Noon.

Save your money everybody! Antioch's merchants will be having their winter "Maxwell Street Days" on February 28 and March 1 and 2. Watch for the Chamber of Commerce and Industry ads and those of all the merchants advertising their special sales in the next issue of THE ANTIOCH NEWS.

RTA needs voter approval to create new agency

(first of a series)

Battle lines have already formed in what will be one of the most controversial issues of the year, identified merely by the three initials RTA. What is this RTA, and why is it stirring up so much debate?

The Regional Transportation Authority would be responsible for coordinating and overseeing the operation of all mass transportation in the counties of Lake, McHenry, Cook, DuPage, Kane and Will. Under the direction of a nine-man Board of Directors, it would be empowered to purchase transportation services from existing agencies, to make grants to such agencies or to operate such services itself. It would be endowed with certain taxing powers to finance these operations.

The RTA has already been authorized by Senate Bill 27 (amended). In order to actually come into existence, however, it must be approved by a majority of voters in a special referendum, which will be held on March 19, at the same time and in the same places as the Primary Election set for that date.

The question -- "Shall a Regional Transportation Authority be created for Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will Counties, Illinois?" -- will appear on a plain blue paper ballot, which will be distributed, marked and counted separately from the Primary ballots. Voters in the referendum need not declare any party affiliation; in fact, they do not even have to vote in the Primary itself.

Behind that simple question on the paper ballot is a 56-page document of highly legal and sometimes complex language. It is for this reason that proponents and opponents of the measure have organized and are waging full-scale campaigns to urge voters to their point of view. The pros and cons become almost as confusing as the RTA Act, as the arguments and arguers increase in number and fervor.

The proponents would appear to have the simpler task. The need for some kind of coordination and upgrading of transportation services in the Chicago metropolitan area is evident to most anyone who uses these facilities. The flight of city residents to the suburbs, combined with the shortage of gasoline, most would agree, make the problem more critical as time goes on.

One key point in all the maneuvering is the balance of numbers. Seventy-eight percent of the total population of the RTA area lives in Cook County; nearly half lives in the City of Chicago.

If the opponents have any hope of prevailing, they must attract some support from these city residents -- somehow. The proponents, however, are leaving little to chance, as they have announced their intention to spend half a million dollars, "if necessary," in their campaign.

Most of the critics of this particular RTA measure, confess that they are themselves supporters of the concept of regional mass transit. But, they say, this Act is not the way to go. The list of arguments advanced against SB-27 is lengthy. But it may be summarized in several general areas.

Representation is a key point among the opponents. Comprised largely of suburban legislators, the opponents argue that the RTA Board -- with six of the first eight members appointed from Cook County -- is unfairly stacked against their constituents. "One man, one vote," counter the proponents.

In addition, those most vocal against the RTA express doubts that a sufficient share of the tax monies raised in the outlying counties will actually be spent in those counties. Advocates point out a section of the law which would appear to guarantee two-thirds of the money for the home county, but opponents say this passage is misleading.

The taxing power of the RTA is itself a point of contention, with opponents calling it "unlimited" and "reckless". Basically, the Authority would be empowered to impose a parking tax and an additional tax on sales of gasoline. Advocates of RTA say that the intent of these taxing powers is clear.

working actively with other superintendents to get formulas changed so that grade schools could more easily get the full State Aid amounts due to them.

Regarding the Lake County assessment situation, Meyer said, "It looks now like the approximately 7 percent increase we were figuring on in tax dollars will not be coming."

All three administrators expressed the opinion that it is now in the hands of the State legislature to clear up the matter. The actions taken by the Board of Review challenge the legality and constitutionality of the procedure which has been followed over the past few years for assessing property and "equalizing" the assessments between townships and counties.

Antioch Township Supervisor

Lloyd "Red" Murrie commented on the assessment problem, saying that he feels that it is about time that the taxing situation in the state must be revised.

"The State legislators have been twiddling their thumbs," Murrie said. "They need to take positive action to set up ground rules for assessment fair to every taxpayer."

He added that, in his opinion, the assessment rollback will be a boon to Antioch township property owners, who had just received word of an increase of about 7 to 10 percent over last year's equalized valuation. With the multipliers from two years removed, valuations of property in Antioch township could be as much as 30 percent less than what had been published a few months ago.

Board of Review

The following is part of the official statement issued by the Lake County Board of Tax Review, explaining the Board's actions concerning property assessments in the County.

The Board of Review of Lake County, Illinois rules in favor of the complainant, Peter J. Nordigian, in complaint No. 616 Shields Township on January 24, 1974, as to the question of the publication as printed in the North Chicago Tribune. It is the opinion of the board of Review that the taxpayer is entitled to the legal description, subdivision, address, or lot and block number. The publication further did not show the taxpayer the break down of land and improvement values thus denying the taxpayer the right of comparing his assessment with comparable properties so that he can determine if his assessment is equitable in relation to others. The Board of Review further finds that the 1973 publications of assessments in the following townships of Lake County fall in the same category as above: Benton, Zion, Newport, Antioch, Lake Villa, Grant, Warren, Waukegan, Fremont, Elia and Wauconda.

As to the question of the "adjustment" or "factor" as applied by the Supervisor of Assessments of the County, the Board of Review feels that this is a function of the Board of Review, and that said Board of Review did not officially apply the equalization factor used on Shields Township. The Board of Review rules that said assessments be frozen at the assessed value placed on each parcel of land in the year 1972, by the Township Assessors, of all other Townships, with the exception of any improvements so assessed in 1973; and, with the exception of any or all adjustments granted by the Board of Review, the Property Tax Appeal Board, or appropriate court order, as the result of complaints filed by taxpayers, exemptions, certificate of errors by the assessors, omitted assessments, divisions of property, and other such actions taken by the Board of Review, in the year 1972.

It is further requested by this Board of Review that after the above stated actions have been taken if the State of Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs attempts to place a county multiplier on all properties in Lake County, that the States Attorney of Lake County bring an immediate cause of action to prevent this. This Board of Review feels that Lake County taxpayers are not and have not had their level of assessments equalized at the same levels established by the State of Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs in all other 101 counties in the State of Illinois.

It is the opinion of the Board of Review that this equalization can be done more fairly at the County level than the State level. However, due to the legal questions raised it is the opinion of the Board of Review that to proceed to do this at the County level would delay the tax bills indefinitely, thus jeopardizing the necessary funds which allow the governmental and educational institutions to function in Lake County.

We don't like this RTA bill

During the next five weeks residents of the Chicago metropolitan area will be bombarded with propaganda urging them to vote one way or the other on the Regional Transportation Authority referendum set for March 19, the day of the Primary Elections.

A regional approach to transportation problems is probably the only way such problems will ever be solved, but we think the particulars set forth in this RTA Act deserve to be voted down. Only when this is done will the State legislators be forced to go back and draft a law worthy of support from all of the metropolitan area.

We are beginning a series of articles this week that will examine the RTA Act in greater detail than possible here. These articles will present the pros and cons offered in the debate.

There are many, many reasons why we feel you should vote against the RTA Act on March 19. Almost every page of the legislation, which we have read, contains some flaw, some power which is left too broad, some area left open to interpretation, some provision not adequately defined.

We will be commenting further on this lousy piece of legislation in weeks to come. For starters, here are some reasons why you should ask for an RTA ballot on March 19 and mark it "NO":

The legislators did not follow common legislative practices in passing the bill. No hearings were held on the specific bill after it was thrown together in the back rooms, out of the public eye. Lawmakers were not given sufficient time to study or even read the bill before they were required to vote on it. This "Railroading" of the RTA through the legislature may account for the unparalleled number of flaws in the bill.

As structured in this law, the RTA will be dominated not merely by Cook County or the City of Chicago, but by the mayor of Chicago. This one man -- no matter who he may be -- will appoint four members of the Board of Directors. The five Cook County commissioners representing suburban areas of that county will appoint two members; the five County Board chairmen of the outlying counties will appoint two members; and these eight Board members will themselves choose a ninth man as Director. One man will appoint nearly half the Board, sufficient to veto any important action. The remaining members will be named by a combination of 18 different people.

The matter of sufficient representation for the outlying counties has aroused much debate, one side contending that each county should have a voice on the Board, the other mouthing platitudes about "one man, one vote." This latter argument, we should point out, overlooks the fact that this is an appointed, not an elected Board. No citizen in the entire six-county area has any "vote" on who sits on this Board.

The real issue of representation, we feel, is that the composition of the board does not allow sufficient

McClory on Federal Budget

The first Federal Budget to exceed $300 billion was presented to the Congress last week in a 1,300 page budgetary document. While the proposed record federal spending reflects the impact of inflation, this budget requires the most careful Congressional scrutiny to determine whether federal expenditures may not be reduced.

One aspect of this document delineating federal revenues and expenditures is the anticipated federal deficit of more than $9 billion. While this is substantially less than some earlier deficits totaling as much as $25 billion still a deliberate $9 billion deficit raises serious questions regarding the whole fiscal business of our federal government. American households would be unable to operate on such a deficit basis year after year without facing either an ultimate adjustment in lifestyle -- or bankruptcy.

In the light of the proposed record spending it may well be to evaluate many of the more expensive federal programs. The largest proposed outlay is for National Defense contemplating record expenditures of more than $85.8 billion -- or about 9 percent above last year. More than one-half of this commitment is for salaries of officers and enlisted personnel and civilian employees in the various services. Indeed, the 9 percent increase is required to meet the salary increases and other personnel benefits which the Congress has authorized.

Even more expensive is the budgetary allocation of $111 billion to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare signifying larger federal outlays for the new federal welfare program, as well as increased costs of medicare and social security.

The allocation of $1.5 billion for research aimed at producing more oil, coal and atomic energy would seem modest, indeed, in our national effort to combat the "energy crisis."

Despite charges that this Administration has been inconsiderate of the poor and needy, it should be noted that the proposed budget contains nearly $6 billion for food for low income families and for school children -- up 17 percent from last year and more than 40 representation from the outlying counties to give voice to the divergent interests in these areas. We are not so certain that each county must have at least one vote on the Board. But it is foolishness to assume that two people can adequately speak for all the varying interests and transportation needs of five counties that stretch from Highland Park, to Antioch, to Harvard, to Big Rock, to Joliet and Peotone.

This is only the beginning of what's wrong with this act. Anyone reading through it should be able to uncover two or three weaknesses on their own. In future editorials, we will comment on others that we have found.

Letters to the Editor on any current issues are welcome. Only letters with names can be considered for this column. Signatures will be withheld on request. Letters cannot be returned and are subject to minor editing.

To The Editor
The Antioch News
Antioch, Ill. 60002

Just a comment or two regarding the upcoming vote re: the RTA. Would it not be feasible for the Cook County rider to begin to pay for the percent greater than was spent the year before. This includes funds for food stamps, school lunches and other nutritional aids for the general public.

The record budget for national defense seems particularly alarming when we reflect that our nation is at peace with every other nation in the world. However, the President asserts that our nation's military strength is essential to a successful negotiation with the Soviets. The principal negotiations to be undertaken during the coming year will be at (a) the SALT talks aimed at reducing the supply of nuclear weapons and (b) the Mutual and Balanced Reduction of Forces in Europe (or MBRF) on the part of the NATO and Warsaw pact nations. Still, it is hoped that defense spending and some other outlays may be cut back so that the federal budget may be brought more closely into balance. It cannot be questioned but that excessive federal spending and unbalanced federal budgets are in themselves major contributors to inflation. And, it follows that inflation jeopardizes the resources and income of all Americans.

Finally, it should be recognized that Congress has inadequate means for dealing with this Federal Budget. However, it appears likely that a Joint Legislative Budget Committee may be established this year. This, in turn, would bring federal fiscal matters under closer Congressional control.

transportation system which is so sorely needed? If the proponents of this octopus want to get others into the system, then let them think about starting with where the most people are that want and need to get to work in Cook County and into Chicago. This would be the townships in the various counties that are contiguous to Cook County.

In all of Lake County outside the townships that area adjacent to Cook there probably are not 2500 to 3000 persons that have to get to Chicago. The railroads with suburban service could tell exactly how many tickets are sold each month for persons travelling to Chicago.

How does one get from Antioch to Chicago? You either drive all the way or drive to a town with a suburban service of one of two railroads. This costs quite a bit of money. Let those in Chicago begin to pay for some of the conveniences they have. At least make a charge that is in line with the service provided. An Antiochian could stand at Rt 59 and Rt 173 all day and never catch a bus, or L-subway train. Let us think hard when it comes time to vote. Why should five other counties subsidize the Chicago riders, because that is exactly what is going to happen. Mr. Daley why do you think we moved from Chicago?

Arbor Ltd plans spring project start

Construction could begin as early as this Spring on the Arbor Ltd. housing development on the former Curnes property east of Anita Avenue between Depot St. and North Avenue. This fact was brought out Monday night as representatives of the development company met with the Village trustees in the first of a series of attempts to negotiate specifics of the project.

The Arbor Ltd. plan, given preliminary approval by the Village Board a year ago, calls for construction of 182 two-and-three-bedroom townhouses and 40 two-bedroom condominium units on the site. The developer has now submitted more detailed drawings to the Village in an attempt to reach agreement so that construction may begin. Part of the original special use ordinance covering the project hinges on development of the expansion of the Antioch treatment plant. That project is now well under way.

Trustee Bill Seemann led off the discussion at Monday night's meeting with a series of questions about the plans. "This is the first large development going into the Village, and it behooves us to go into it in detail so that we don't make any mistakes," Seemann said. His questions dealt mainly with sewer and water facilities on the site and the drainage of storm water.

The plans now call for the Village to own only those lines along Anita Avenue and Greenbriar Drive, which crosses the site. The utility lines serving the various areas of the project will be privately owned, either by the developer or the homeowners' association.

Neither Seemann nor Public

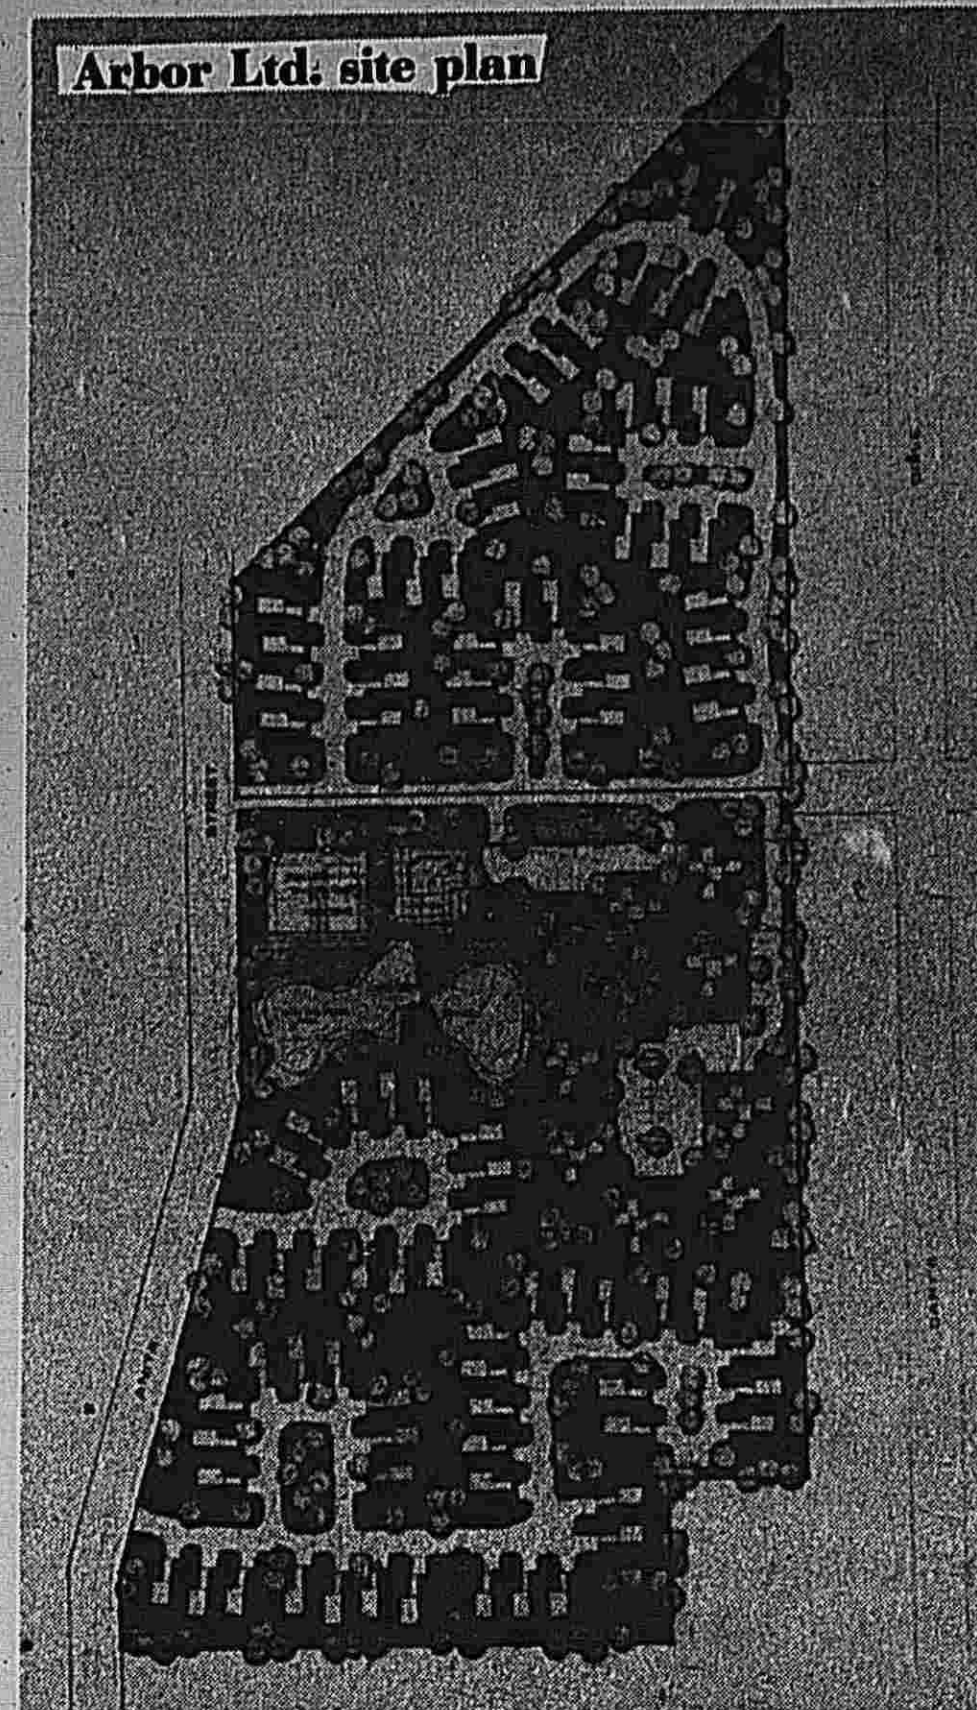

Works Director Tod Mapletorpe expressed much pleasure about the plans for these utility lines to run behind many of the units rather than in the roadways in front of them. Commenting that residents would seek solutions from the Village whenever something went wrong, Mapletorpe said, "We'll be stuck with it whether they're ours or not."

Highlight of the meeting was the reading of approximately 40 minutes of engineering specifications and notes by Village Engineer Frank Angelotti. These were contained in his review of the plans submitted by the developer.

Through some oversight which was never fully explained, the developers had not received a copy of Angelotti's review before the meeting. Consequently, they said that they would be unable to comment on it at that time.

After further discussion, it was determined that Angelotti would meet with the engineers for Arbor Ltd. to work out the resolution of his objections. After a basic engineering agreement is reached, the remaining differences will be brought back to the Board for their decision.

In other business at Monday night's meeting, the trustees approved Marge Nelson's motion to hire the Clark mosquito treatment firm for the same services as were rendered last year. The basic program of nine treatments through the summer will cost the Village $3,717.

On the suggestion of Mike Haley, the Board agreed to cooperate with the Soo Line railroad in repairing the Depot St. crossing. Under the proposed agreement, the Village would be responsible for raising the level of Depot St. to meet the grade of the crossing, which will be levelled out by the railroad.

Bell, Coles and Murrie to run as County Board team

Three Republican candidates for the County Board from District 4 have joined forces and will run as a team in the March 19 primary election. They are George R. Bell from rural Mundelein; Ronald R. Coles, Lake Villa; and Lloyd E. Murrie, Antioch. All are incumbents seeking re-election to four year terms. Each drew two year terms in the 1972 elections.

Coles has been Chairman of the Lake County Board since 1971, the year the new Illinois constitution caused county boards and their functions to be restructured.

Under Coles, Bell has served as chairman of the important Finance and Administrative Committee and Vice Chairman of Public Works. Murrie, a former Board Chairman and Finance Chairman, has for the past two years headed the Public Service Committee in charge of Highways and Public Works.

In a joint statement the three candidates stated: "We decided to work together in the election after checking accomplishments for our District and the County. We have headed the efforts to obtain Federal and State grants to build sewage treatment plants and interceptor lines in Fremont, Grayslake, and the entire Northwest area of our District. Highway 21 was widened and improved. Undesirable development of our area has been kept under control. And above all, while new services have been provided, the County's tax rate has been kept down. You can't get anything done without cooperation. Together, we think we are doing the job our District appreciates."

The old, well-known resorter and the missing money bag

Through the honesty of Mr. J. Harrison of Antioch, the local police have closed the books on one of their more puzzling cases of recent weeks. The following story was pieced together from reliable police sources.

It seems that on the evening of January 18, 1974, an old and well-known resort owner of this vicinity supposedly put a bag containing $72 in change in his car. Upon arriving at his destination, this man discovered that the money was no longer in his car.

The incident was reported to the police, who came out to the scene and conducted a thorough investigation. The police talked with many people, but not a single lead could be discovered -- no signs of breaking into the car, no suspicious persons sighted in the area. The money, it seemed, had simply vanished into thin air.

Then on January 31, Mr. Harrison came to the police station. Mr. Harrison, who happens to drive an identical-looking car to that of the old and well-known resort owner, reported to the police that he had discovered a mysterious bag in his car containing $72.00 in change.

The police were quick to link the two incidents, and the money was returned to the old and well-known resort owner.

Police Chief Jack Wells, who happens to be an old duck-hunting buddy of the old and well-known resort owner, commended Mr. Harrison for his honesty in returning the bag of loose change, thus solving the puzzling case and saving the police from many hours of additional work.

Mobile health clinic visits to Antioch cancelled

Antioch Township Supervisor Lloyd Murrie told the Antioch News Saturday that he has been notified that the Lake County Mobile Health Clinic will no longer be in Antioch on Tuesday evenings.

The clinic had been coming to St. Peter's since mid-summer, offering low-cost health care to area residents who were on severely limited budgets or who did not have a family doctor.

According to Murrie, the director of the program, James Rabishaw, decided to cancel the Antioch visits because of lack of interest. Rabishaw reportedly determined that it was not economically feasible to continue sending a doctor to Antioch for four hours a week to have only one or two people take advantage of the program. Antioch Township's contribution to the program, according to the Supervisor, came out of Revenue Sharing funds.

Murrie said that he was personally "very disappointed" that the mobile health clinic program did not work out here. "But we gave it a trial run for five months," he added. "For some reason people just have not taken advantage of it."

PTA meeting re-scheduled at ACHS

The Antioch Community High School P.T.A. meeting that was postponed on Wednesday, February 6, is being rescheduled for Wednesday, March 6 at 8:00 p.m. The meeting will be held in the High School Commons and will give parents the opportunity to learn about the educational programs offered by the new voluntary army for high school graduates. The programs discussed will include opportunities for both boys and girls. Be sure to mark this important date on your calendar.

Expanded programs for County Mental Health Center

The Lake County Mental Health Center, a tax-supported division of the County Health Department, is preparing a combination of ongoing programs and new projects for 1974.

Ongoing programs include:

- Emergency evaluation and management, providing immediate attention to individuals who are uncontrollable, homicidal or suicidal due to mental problems.

- Intensive psychotherapy and chemotherapy as long-term treatment of individuals with chronic emotional problems and mental illness.

- Individual and family counseling and crisis intervention.

- Community consultation and education, including seminars, classes and discussion groups for interested community organizations and other agencies in the county.

Three new programs are slated for 1974.

By March 1, a major satellite office will be established in the mid-county Grayslake area to provide a wide range of community mental health services with greater accessibility to western Lake County residents.

A full-time research specialist has been added to the Health Department staff. He is immediately assigned to speaking with the groups concerned about the drug abuse problem in the county. In addition, he will be gathering data toward the goal of designing a well-thought-out, responsible and practical approach for the community to take to deal with the drug abuse problem.

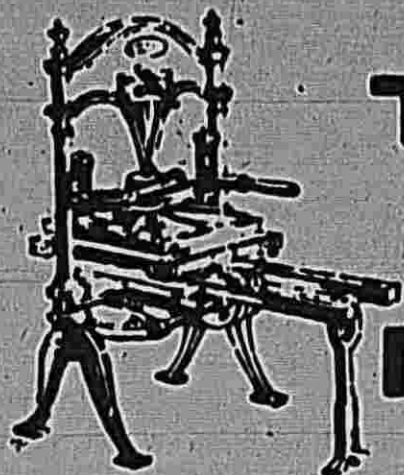

The total staff (24) of the Mental Health Center will be involved in the implementation, on a trial basis, of a specific educational program called Parent Effectiveness Training. This class is focused on prevention through the learning of concrete skills with which families may improve communication and cooperation.

Our area Cub Scout Pack No. 86 has been very busy lately. Two weeks ago 10 of the scouts along with their den mothers Kathy O'Conner and Judy Gossman had a toboggan party.

The pack meets at the Northern Illinois Conservation Club once a month with Mr. Jim Larson as Cub Master. At the last Pack meeting awards were given to Tracy Melke who earned his Wolf badge and a gold and silver arrow. Todd O'Conner was awarded his two year pin while Bobby O'Connor received his one year pin. Gene Zannini got his Bear badge and Rick Gossman, Marshall Miles and Brad Larson all received one year pins. George Hucker was the life saver the night of the meeting as he helped several parents out of the hilly ice-covered road. Now the Pack is very busy planning the Blue and Gold Dinner to be held at the Club on February 24th. Co-chairmen for the dinner are Mrs. Arlene Zannini and Mrs. Barbara Koss. The theme for the dinner will be Mardi Gras.

Todd O'Conner is home from the hospital recuperating from an appendectomy while his father Roger is hobbling around on crutches after a foot injury while coaching his St. Peter's boys' basketball team. The next thing we'll probably hear is that Kathy O'Conner is having a nervous breakdown - hang in there Kathy!

Jenny Smith held her 6th birthday party on February 4 with a party at her home.

Jackie Bjork blew out 7 candles on her cake on February 5th with several of her friends on hand to help her celebrate. Little Ashley Swider-ek blew out 2 big candles on her cake on January 31 with all her family to share the excitement.

Emil Frozeth celebrated his 87th birthday with a family dinner on Tuesday, February 12. Joining Mr. Frozeth were his wife Agda and daughter Lorraine Lemke and her family and daughter Doris Meierdick and her family. Many happy returns, Mr. Frozeth.

Eric Enzenbacher celebrated his 8th birthday on February 11. Happy birthday also to Mary Jo Zeien on the 12th.

Rick and Kathy Behrens and Mike and Mary Jo Zeien left all our snow here at home to spend a long week-end on the trails in Hayward, Wisconsin snowmobiling and enjoying the time away from the children.

The traditional Valentine "husband treating his wife to dinner" party for member and friends of the Antioch Evangelical Free Church (A.E.F.C.) will be held at Rooks' Restaurant in Zion on February 13th, starting at 6:30 p.m. C'Mon, ladies and gentlemen - get out your best "bib and tucker"; Rooks' promises you all an excellent supper!

AWANA girls of the A.E.F.C. Church have a full schedule of events lined up for the near future. A Valentine party for all the club was enjoyed on February 12th at the church; then on March 19th, the Round Lake-AWANA girl's club will be guests of the Antioch girls, and the film "A Thief in the Night" will be shown. The Antioch AWANA boys are also invited to see this film. March 12th to the 19th is known as AWANA Week, and there will be more information regarding these activities at a later date. This year, the Olympics competition will be held at the Antioch Community High School on April 20th, and will be a day long affair. So, AWANA girls and boys - Time to put away your dolls and toys; You want your muscles sturdy and strong - Olympics competition is strenuous and long. Don't want any of you lovely people to forget to "Swing into Spring" and see the combination fashion show, card and bunco party at the Grass Lake School on March 10th, at 2:00 p.m. Tickets can be obtained from the Four Squires, the Young Image, Toms' Arco Gas Station on Grass Lake Road and all Grass Lake School P.T.O. members. DON'T FORGET MARCH 10th, NOW!

The Ray Rathmann's, Oakwood Knolls, enjoyed a delightful evening at the Mardi Gras

Loren and Martha Kemmy lost their storage building on Monday afternoon when a heater in the building failed to work properly. Despite the great work of the Antioch Volunteer Fire Department, the building could not be saved and the Kemmy's lost everything they had stored in it.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The Hospital Committee Chapter Night was called to order by the Senior Regent with all officers present.

Because Antioch is the top Chapter in the district, and we have to perform the Enrollment part of the ritual at Chapter Rally Day, the Senior Regent instructed the Ritual Directors to make corrections on the floor during the meeting.

The Guides escorted Hospital Chairman Pat Halper to the altar, where she introduced the members of her committee who had charge of the entertainment and refreshments for the evening. She presented checks for the W.O.T.M. Scholarship Fund, Mooseheart Health Center, and the Nurses Scholarship Fund. The Chapter was introduced to Mr. Tom Brill from Lake County Health Dept. who showed a film on V.D. During the question and answer

Ball party, held last Saturday at the Flick Reedy Hall in Bensenville. This party was sponsored by the Pioneers' Club of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company - any employee of twenty years or more is eligible to be a member of its Pioneer Club. This club has many social activities on its agenda, so it has a lot to offer its members. Nearly all came in costume and prizes were given in many different categories. An evening of dancing, entertainment and refreshments gave everyone pleasant memories of an Illinois "Mardi Gras!"

session, Mr. Brill stressed contacting your doctor or the Public Health Service for treatment if the symptoms arise.

The Chapter then proceeded with the enrollment of four regular candidates Betty Dahlke and Estelle Lewandowski, sponsored by Senior Regent June Ballenger; Pat Sulak and Mary Galster, sponsored by Chairman Pat Halper.

After the Mooseheart Endowment Fund March, Recorder Judy Page read the correspondence and report of receipts. Chairman Elsie Toman gave the Hospitality Report.

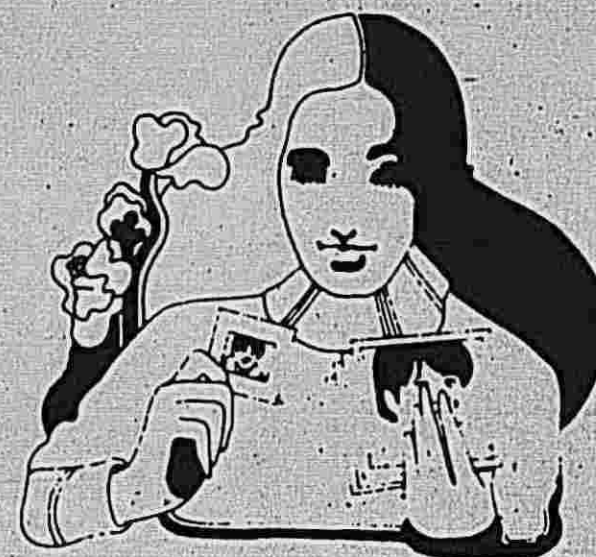

Chapter Pins were awarded to Eva Heitz and Ruth Sims by the Senior Regent.

The Senior Regent explained that Chapter Rally Day involves six Chapters this year, who perform the five parts of the Ritual. The Ritual, hosted by Fox Lake Chapter, will be at the Ingleside Fire Station, and afterward we will return to Fox Lake Moose Lodge for refreshments. The bus will leave Antioch Moose Lodge at 12:00 sharp. All co-workers are urged to be on time with their formals, dues receipts, and one dollar for registration.

Share the Pot was won by Harriet Grewe and Mildred Elichek was not present for the attendance drawing.

High School choir to participate in choral clinic at ISU

The ACHS Choir and director Ralph Brooke along with eleven Illinois high school choirs will participate in the 10th annual Illinois State University Choral Clinic-Festival Feb. 23, according to Dr. Donald Armstrong, ISU associate music professor and director of University choirs, who is coordinating the event.

Choice of the 12 was made from more than 100 high schools who responded to invitations to apply. Final selection was made on the basis of past participation in the Festival, Armstrong said, with consideration given to variety of program and quality of performing groups.

At the festival, each choir will perform a half-hour program, beginning at 8:30 a.m. in Centennial East recital hall. Immediately after each program, each choir will have a half-hour session with one of two clinicians.

Clinicians are Dr. Don V. Moses, director of choral activities, University of Iowa, and Dr. John W. Ferrell, professor of music at ISU.

The University Concert Choir, conducted by Armstrong, will present an informal program at 1 p.m. in the recital hall. The public is invited to attend any of the sessions.

Vocational School committees named

James Verchota, Chairman of the Board of Control for the Lake County Area Vocation Center, recently named two committees of the Board to begin the next phase of planning for the vocational school. The committees named were the Architect Selection and Site Selection.

Lee Miller, Superintendent from Grant High School, is chairman of the Architect Selection Committee. His committee is comprised of the following Superintendents: George Smittle, Waukegan;

Ron Eastman, Lake Zurich; Walter Johnson, Libertyville, and James Verchota, Warren. This committee has the responsibility of sorting through more than 50 architectural firms that have expressed an interest in the vocational school project to determine the best qualified firm for the project. It is expected the committee will have its recommendation ready for the March Board of Control meeting.

The Site Selection Committee is being chaired by Larry Rouse, Superintendent from Grayslake High School. Also serving on the site committee are: James Flood, Superintendent, Education Service Region; Richard Warfield, Superintendent, Wauconda, and Richard Erzen, President, College of Lake County. The committee hopes to locate a suitable site adjacent to the College of Lake County.

According to Merv Pilotte, Planning Director for the vocational school, it is anticipated that ground will be broken for the school late this summer and the building ready for occupancy in September of 1976.

Coin Club sets meeting

The Antioch Coin Club will hold its monthly meeting in the community room at the State Bank of Antioch on Feb. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

The program will be a talk on "What membership in the American Numismatic Association means." Also a discussion on "Cleaning of Coins."

Last month's meeting included many new faces and the return of previous members.

Planned for the coming year are programs directed at numismatics. Speakers and films are among the features to be presented. An auction of coins will also be held at each meeting.

The field of coin collecting has grown, according to a spokesman for the club. "There are many coin collectors in the area, and it is to these people that the club is directing an invitation to them as guests."

Both men and women, juniors and seniors are invited to become members. Dues are minimal.

The meetings are scheduled for the third Monday of each month at the State Bank in Antioch at 7:30 p.m.

Fun Fair planned at grade school

Public is invited to County Board meeting on R.T.A.

The Lake County Board is sponsoring a meeting, Thursday, February 14, 1974, at 7 p.m. in the County Board Room of the County Building, Waukegan, to discuss the Regional Transit Authority (R.T.A.)

Guest speakers will include Donald Deuster, Representative from the 32nd District and Eleanor Wolf, Jr., Chairman of the Greater Lake County Mass Transit District.

The public is invited to attend.

Senior citizens must re-file for Homestead exemption

Residents of Antioch Township who were 65 or older before January 1, 1974, are advised that they have until March 31 to file an application for the Homestead exemption on their property taxes for 1974. Applications are being taken now at the township office, 800 1/2 Main, next to the police station.

Those who have applied for the exemption before need only bring the yellow copy from last year's application and last year's property tax bill when they re-apply. New applicants should bring a deed to their property, last year's tax bill and verification of their age.

The Homestead exemption, the township office, allows a reduction of $1500 in the assessed valuation of the property. For those who apply now, the exemption will show up on the tax bill received in 1975.

This is not the same as the so-called "circuit breaker" law, which grant eligible senior citizens a rebate for a portion of the property tax after it is paid. An individual could possibly qualify for both tax breaks. But separate applications must be filed for each program each year.

The township office is open from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and from 9 until Noon on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Life Underwriters to meet with State President

The monthly luncheon meeting of the Lake County Life Underwriters will be held Friday noon, February 15, 1974, at the Swedish Glee Club, on Belvidere Road in Waukegan.

The meeting will feature Walter Dotterer, CLU, President, of the Illinois State Association of Life Underwriters. This will be the first time a state association president has attended a Lake County Association meeting.

Mr. Dotterer is associated with Equitable Life Insurance Society of America, in the Karl J. Peterson Agency of Chicago. Mr. Dotterer joined Equitable in 1953 and is a senior master agent specializing in pension sales. He earned his CLU designation in 1959.

Jim Alleman, President of the Lake County Association, urges everyone to attend, and find out what the state association is doing for its members.

LADY AUDLEY'S SECRET A "Dee-lightful" array of talent

For an evening of simply delightful fun, put your tongue in your cheek and go down to the PM & L Theatre for their production of "Lady Audley's Secret."

Keep in mind that this musical Victorian melodrama has very little serious about it - not even bigamy nor the attempted murder of three men. It is intended strictly for the enjoyment of the audience, so whether you see the play this weekend or next, enjoy, enjoy.

And there is much to enjoy in the play; everything is very pointedly theatrical. If you miss that point, the actors may very well turn and remind you. The song lyrics are just as light-hearted, often conveying some moral platitudes of the Victorian era.

The music is skillfully rendered by the duet of Tracy Teltz on the piano and David Rush on the drums. Again, the two produce the light, melodious touch so well-known to PM & L regulars, that keeps the theatre goers humming long after the final curtain. Some of the fun is that the piano player does not remain part of the background, but very definitely asserts herself in the play.

Working with a good script and enjoyable music, the local actors, directed by Ken Smouse, carry it off in really excellent style. Every single person on stage seems well-cast and extremely comfortable in his/her role. As individuals and as a group, it is a very strong cast for Ken to work with.

Perhaps the most striking aspect of the production is the quality of singing. The seven major characters in the play are all competent singers and, surprisingly for an amateur group, five of the seven are extremely strong singers.

Dena Fabry delightfully overdoes the sweetness of Lady Audley. Sounding like everyone's favorite kindergarten teacher, she would seem incapable of even as much as an unkind thought. Yet the audience is soon shown the darker side of Lady Audley. But, of course, that's her secret. Dena appears to have great fun with her role, a fact which carries through in her singing. From the moment that Bob Bundy comes onstage as the aging Sir Michael Audley, he looks about to collapse from heart failure. In the end he does, or does he? He is entirely devoted to his second wife, believing her to be as pure as the driven snow. Bob sings in a remarkably strong and clear voice, and the duet, "The Winter Rose," between him and Dena is especially well-done.

Rita Shields is quite expressive as Alicia Audley, Sir Michael's petulant daughter. In the scenes with her step-mother in which she inserts numerous asides to the audience, Rita's changes of facial expression are precise. This expressiveness carries through in her singing, also.

Lou Jones conveys the honor of Capt. Robert Audley, who can't quite get the message that he is supposed to marry Alicia. He is too busy thinking about his charming aunt. His deep, rich voice is sometimes hard to understand.

Don Beveroth has created another loveable character in Luke, who "knows what he knows." The maid Phoebe, who marries Luke, much to her dismay, is brought to life by Tessa Smith. The interaction between the two is fun to watch. And when Tessa sings, it is with a tremendously rich and clear voice.

Tom Hausman's too short appearances as George Talboys are extremely expressive. It is unfortunate that he must leave so soon.

The remainder of the cast set the tempo in the opening scene with a rousing English country dance, choreographed by Lyn Zaehler. Lyn and Bill Serzhon, as the butler and the maid, do some lovely dancing in totally silent contrast to the rest of the cast.

The costumes add to the atmosphere of the play. Of particular note are the authentic dresses for Lady Audley and Alicia, provided through the generosity of Mrs. James McMillan.

When you see "Lady Audley's Secret" at the PM & L Theatre, there will be little doubt in your mind that you are experiencing a play. The cast brings it alive for you - so enjoy, enjoy.

Woman's Club hears of modern Yoga

Janyce Hamilton, founder of "Yoga Today" was the featured guest at the February 4th meeting of the Antioch Woman's Club.

Janyce, who was born and raised in Antioch, nee Runyard, lectured to the ladies assembled on exercise, diet, posture and general good health obtained by following her modernized form of Yoga.

Her teachings ignore the religious aspects of the old Yoga along with the sole vegetable diet it entails. Her reasoning is that a person needs a dietary regimen that includes protein, carbohydrates and fats as well as exercise and ability to relax to engender good health.

Kathy Cirone did a number of "Yoga Today" exercises to demonstrate Miss Hamilton's teaching.

Club decorations were carried out in the Abe Lincoln motif. There was a log cabin and some "logs." There were no mauls or wedges with which to split these logs so the ladies used spoons. Of course the logs were chocolate covered ice cream. Janet Brook and her committee, came up with the idea.

Margaret Gaston and Helen Nelson are on the road to recovery while Irene Hahn and Carolyn Horan are on the ailing list, the club heard.

Mariann Pechousek asked for volunteers to help Protestant patients at Downey Hospital to attend Sunday services. These men are on crutches or in wheel chairs and need assistance to get to the chapel. Willing helpers should contact either Arthur A. Muth or Chaplain S.B. Jones at the hospital.

Sue Sedivec, the new Community Relations Officer of Antioch, explained her work and plans. Her service deals mostly with young people. Her office is located in the Police Department, but she has a separate phone. The number is 395-3160.

Program Chairman Lucille Hojem secured NBC meteorologist Harry Volkman to be the guest speaker at the February 18th meeting. He will explain the method of predicting the weather and maybe tell us why we are getting so much snow this winter.

Norman Cramer to speak at Lake County Ostomy Association

On February 14th, Mr. Norman Cramer, representative for Marsan appliances, will be guest speaker at the Lake County Ostomy meeting. The Meeting will commence at 8:00 p.m. at Victory Memorial Hospital in Waukegan.

President Nadine Presley wishes to extend an invitation to any and all Ostomates and their family or friend to attend this demonstration and learn about the different appliances. From time to time other appliances will be demonstrated so each of us can determine for ourselves what is the best for our comfort and well being.

Winemakers sponsor workshop

The Wine Corkers home winemaking club will sponsor their second winemaking workshop of this year on Thursday, February 14th. The workshop will consist of a winemaking demonstration followed by an open forum for questions and answers. Light refreshments will be served after the workshop. It will be held at the Wine Art shop, 322 N. Seymour, Mundelein at 7:30 p.m. Please call 566-1112 for more information and reservations. No cost or obligation.

HOGAN RETIRES

George Hogan, Route 4, Antioch, retired recently from Commonwealth Edison Company after 44 years of service. He was employed in the utility's load dispatching and operating department in Chicago-North division.

A member of St. Peter's Church, Hogan enjoys hunting, fishing, woodworking and photography. He has three children: Mrs. Patricia Hoerich of Hanover Highlands; Mrs. Marsha Woods, Streamwood, and George Hogan of Grayslake.

He plans to remain in Antioch.

In-service workshop for District 34 teachers

On Thursday, February 21st, an in-service workshop will be held for teachers in Antioch District No. 34. Schools involved are Antioch Grade School, Channel Lake Grade School, Oakland Grade School and the Antioch Upper Grade School. The speaker for the K-5 workshop will be Miss Ramon Pelland, Reading Consultant for Ginn & Co. She will work with the teachers on more effective ways of using the Ginn 360 Reading Program. The Upper Grade teachers will have in-service work in the various departments. This workshop is being held as one of the five half-day workshops allowed by the state.

"What better way to brighten their day of any of these fine people - the shut-ins, the elderly citizens, the handicapped and the hospitalized - than to pay them a cheerful visit, take them for a drive or out shopping, bring them some home-baked goodies, or even, just give them a pleasant phone call!" Mrs. Philip Cole of Highland Park says. Mrs. Cole, district community service chairman of the 10th District American Legion Auxiliary, goes on to state that one of the many purposes of the community service program is remembering these people so easily forgotten in the busy whirl of today's activities. Other suggestions are aiding your community in blood donor drives; in all the volunteer health drives (heart, cancer, multiple sclerosis, etc.), helping in the beautification of areas that are "eye-sores" to your vicinity; enrolling volunteers in the "meals on wheels" project for the elderly citizens who are house-bound; participate in the schools and their P.T.O.'s; work with the youth in the organizations that always need more volunteers - the girl scouts, boy scouts, church groups, etc.

"Everyone can help someone is still another adage of the Auxiliary's community service program. Do what you can to assist the handicapped in your community. They sincerely appreciate your efforts." Mrs. Cole concludes: "Work with your American Legion and other organizations to promote legislation for the benefit of your community; stress the prevention of juvenile delinquency; suppress obscene literature and promote better and decent films for both the local theaters and television. Also, don't forget to contribute to the special project of our state president, Mrs. William J. Stringer of Oak Park - the support of the Illinois Kidney Foundation, Inc. and the prevention, control and cure of kidney diseases."

"The time of the year has now drawn near when Golden Press and Golden Mike awards are here" quotes Mrs. Edward Jahneke of Antioch, 10th District and 2nd Division communications chairman, American Legion Auxiliary. "Golden Press awards were established in 1968, with the thought that recognition should be given to newspapers who are doing an outstanding job in the interest of youth." Two Golden Press awards will be presented for the best local program written in the interest of youth in the categories of (1) best editorial; (2) best feature article or a series on the same subject.

Newspapers are invited to submit entries that have been printed between May 1, 1973 to May 1, 1974. Rules were formulated by the national communications committee of the national Auxiliary. Applications may be obtained from Mrs. Jahneke.

The Golden Mike awards were initiated in 1957 by the American Legion Auxiliary in support of the American Legion's child welfare resolutions calling emphasis on juvenile delinquency over juvenile delinquency in the nation's communications media.

Two Golden Mike awards will be presented to the best local radio program and to the best local television program in the interest of youth. Entries must represent a series of four or more programs aired on radio or television between May 1, 1973 to May 1, 1974. All entries are judged within each state, and the winners are sent by June 1, 1974 to a national committee of judges to determine the national winning contestants.

The Golden Press and Golden Mike awards will be given the winning communications media at the state and national conventions this next summer. For any further information, please contact Mrs. Jahneke.

Mrs. Norman Holt, North Chicago, 10th District President, and Mrs. James Raihle, Round Lake, district junior activities chairman, will be participating in the initiation ceremony of new juniors and the "graduation ceremony" of two juniors into senior membership of the Gurnee Unit Juniors on February 17th, at 7:30 p.m., at the Gurnee American Legion Home. Mrs. Holt will be the officiating dignitary performing the graduation; while Mrs. Raihle will be the officer in charge of the initiation. Both Mrs. Holt and Mrs. Raihle were honored guests of the Homer Dahlinger Legion Unit Juniors of Waukegan's Installation of officers, held February 4th in their Legion Home in Waukegan.

According to Miss Susan Rathmann of Antioch, 10th District Junior President, the 10th District juniors will be holding a choral practice on February 15th, at the Sharvin American Legion Home in North Chicago, from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. The juniors will be practicing the songs they will be singing at the Department Patriotic Conference, held at the Pick Congress Hotel in Chicago on March 21st.

THINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW ABOUT CONSERVING ELECTRICITY

Forgotten filters can cost you money.

Since filters are usually out of sight, they're usually out of mind. That is, until you notice something wrong with your heating or air conditioning. Then you may find a dirty filter behind it.

Dust or lint on filters reduces your system's ability to move heated or cooled air.

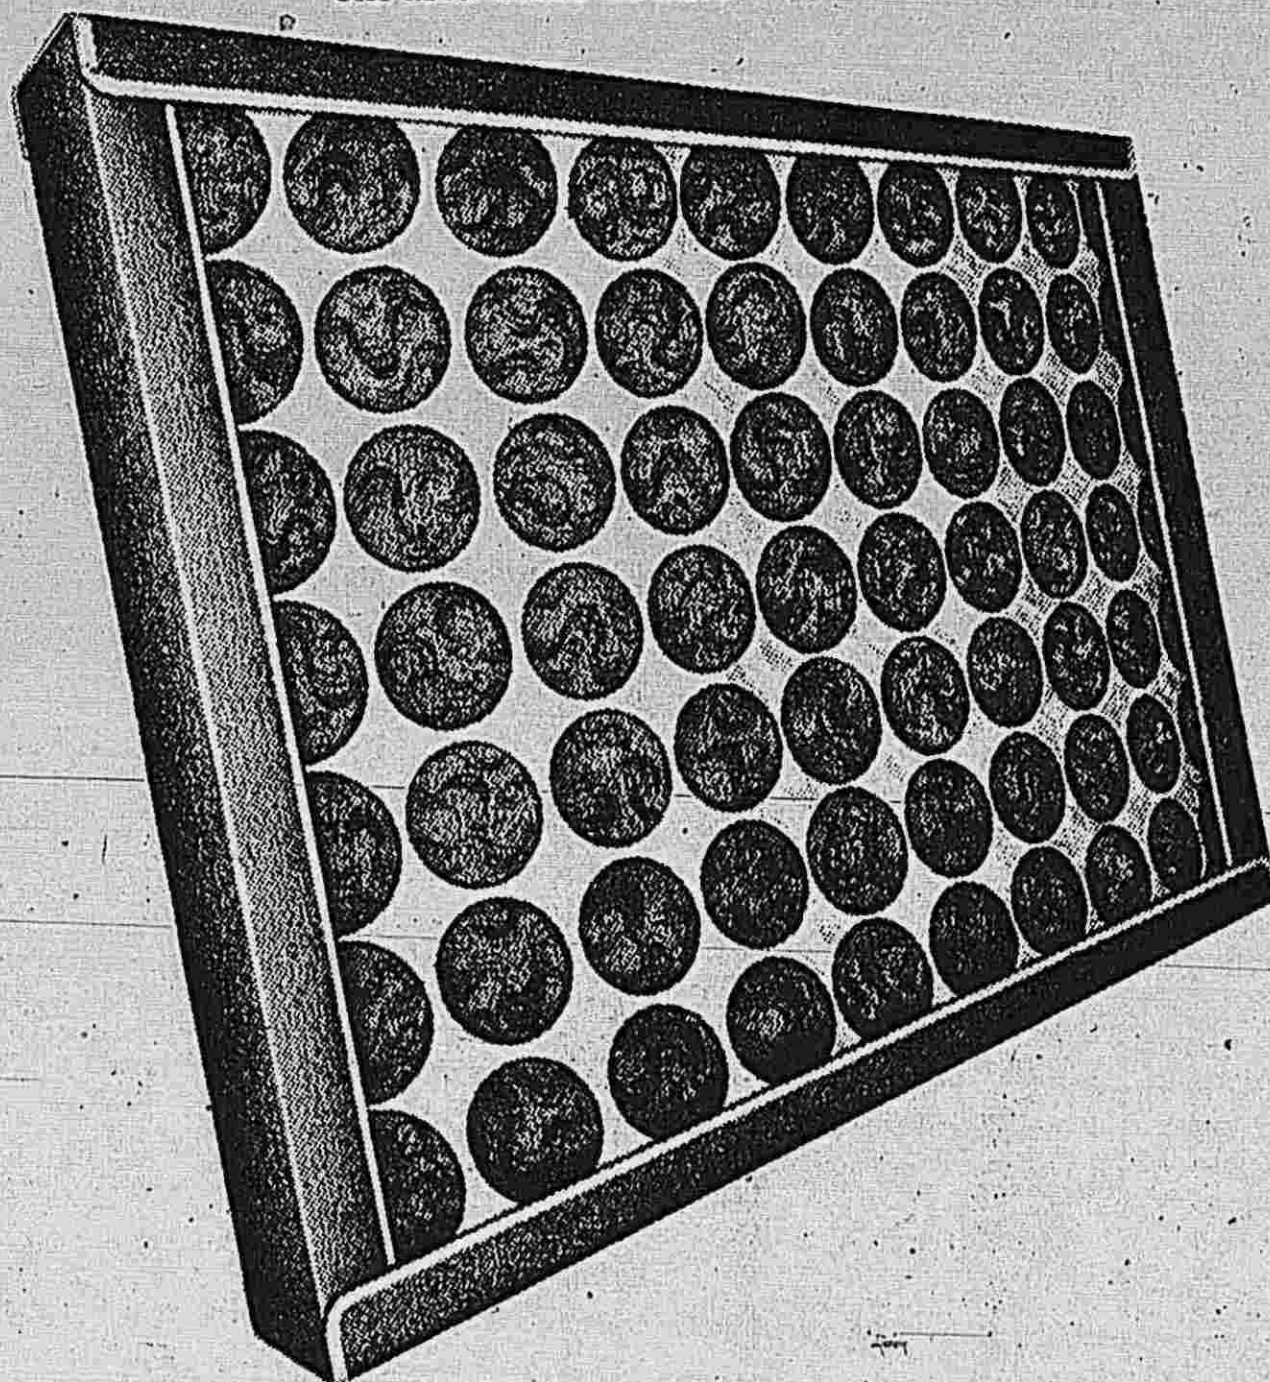

It's a good idea to check your filters every 30-60 days. To remind yourself, you may want to do it the same day you pay your fuel bill. If the filter is dirty, clean or replace it. Clean filters also help keep your home cleaner. This principle applies essentially to all heating fuels—electricity, gas or oil.

Don't forget the filter on your clothes dryer either. Clean it after every load to keep your dryer in top operating condition. Maintaining clean filters is only one area where we have information that can help you conserve energy. If you would like our booklet "101 Ways to Conserve Electricity at Home," write Commonwealth Edison, Department AV, P.O. Box 767, Chicago, Illinois 60690. We'll send it to you free.

THAT HEALS

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

What is the nature of the joy that lasts?

An answer to this question will be brought out at Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday in the Bible Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul."

"My soul shall be joyful in the Lord: it shall rejoice in his salvation," a passage from Psalms states.

Commentary from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy concludes with this statement: "The Science of being reveals man as perfect, even as the Father is perfect, because the Soul, or Mind, of the spiritual man is God, the divine Principle of all being, and because this real man is governed by Soul instead of sense, by the law of Spirit, not by the so-called laws of matter."

Everyone is invited to attend services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, BEACON HILL, Rte 173 and Harden, Antioch, Illinois. They begin at 11 a.m.

A fire fund for the Surrock Family has been started at the State Bank of Antioch and at the First National Bank of Antioch to make it easy for friends to make a contribution. The Surrocks were out of town to attend a family funeral when fire gutted their home on Route 83 near Grass Lake Rd.

Doris Surrock is a lady that has made a great contribution to this community over a long period of time. She was active in P.T.A., was a past president of Oakland P.T.A., served as room mother for different grades for many years, was active in Brownies, Girl Scouts as a leader, was a Cub Scout den mother, supported Little League activities, and helped organize and raise funds for the boys' hockey program. Mrs. Surrock was always there to serve at every spaghetti dinner, pot luck, pancake breakfast, fun fair, book fair, bazaar, and referendum. She has baked for

"Hindsight's Better Than Foresight"

By Father Keusal

A couple of weeks ago I went down with a friend to see the "Exorcist." Just recently I received a letter from him. The following is that letter.

"The Exorcist" is not a religious movie. If it were religious it would tell us why the "devil" possesses this girl. What does he intend happening to her? What truth are we to learn from this very slick and flashy film? No answers provided; no motivations afforded.

"The Exorcist" is not a horror flick. Horror drama challenges the mind, imagination and emotions. The horror drama is "scarey" because it contains situations, characters and ironies that can possibly happen in life. For plausibility, "The Exorcist" is a bore.

I have seen many facets of human nature. Just recently I saw orgies of pushing and shoving droves of Christmas shoppers spending money hand over fist for junk. This evening a friend called to retell his adventure while waiting forty-five minutes in a line of cars (two of his fenders were mauled) while he waited for two dollars of gasoline. Human nature at times is cruel, selfish and unbelievably crass. This side of our nature is graphically illustrated in the making and viewing of the film, "The Exorcist."

This film had a predictable public reception. Some of us like to out do the other guy in gossip conversation. The stories I hear of people fainting and vomiting in the theatre while watching this film grow with every new viewer.)

The rest of the letter will continue next week and then the following week, I'll comment on the letter and answer a few of the questions that are brought up.

the school parties, P.T.A. affairs, and bake sales.

Mrs. Surrock has worked at the Lake Villa post office all these years, first as relief mail carrier on all routes and in the office as clerk the last six years, meanwhile raising a fine family. She has been a good mother, good friend, good neighbor and good citizen. Now is our opportunity to tell Doris, her husband Lester, and her children what an asset they are and have been to their community, and to say thank you for the many hundreds of unselfish hours she has give for the benefit of our children and ourselves.

Janet Brook Branch IV Cancer chairman

While others in Illinois are busy getting ready for spring, Reuben W. Berry, the American Cancer Society's 1974 Illinois Division Crusade Chairman, will be busy trying to convince people all across the state of the importance of cancer safeguards.

Mrs. William Brook, Route 21, Box 369, Antioch, has been chosen as Branch IV Residential Chairman. In this capacity, Mrs. Brook will assume responsibility for the American Cancer Society Crusade Activities in Antioch, Fox Lake, Grayslake, Ingleside, Lake Villa, Venetian Village, Lindenhurst, Round Lake, Round Lake Beach, Round Lake Heights, Round Lake Park, Wildwood, and Gages Lake.

As one American Cancer Society volunteer put it, "Our slogan this year is everyone's dream - 'We Want To Wipe Out Cancer In Your Lifetime.' To do that we need your dollars to support vital research and programs of public and professional education, service, and rehabilitation to the cancer patient."

"Equally important we need everyone to be alert to Warning Signals and have a yearly health checkup including cancer tests. Frankly, we could save more lives right now if people did just that." Remember - 'If you don't know cancer's Warning Signals, how do you know you haven't got one?'

ABC'S OF TRAVEL

Barb Corbin

Special medical helps

Many people travel today in our modern jet age that never would have thought about it five years ago. Air travel can be very easy and economical for one and all. Those of you who are required to be on a special diet, at the time of making your reservation, designate to your travel agent the request and if done no less than 48 hours before your flight; special foods or diets can be provided. Those of you who might require a wheelchair or are wheelchair confined; no problem if the agent is advised of this at the time you make the reservation and he will in turn tell the airline of the special request and this will give them the time needed to provide the extra service at NO cost. Yes, that is right; this is all part of the airlines job, and your rights as a passenger if you know about them. All your handicapped passengers are boarded first and given extra care. Also, any of you who do a lot of traveling; even if it is by car, there is a new medical card just for travelers which I would recommend one hundred percent. If differs from other methods of making available a traveler's medical history. Stat-Pack seals the medical history in a waterproof card for immediate availability. This card, which is the size of a credit-card, lists emergency contacts, immunizations, allergies, illnesses, current condition, electrocardiogram and blood analysis-chart. This should be kept by your drivers license for this is the first place anyone would look for information, etc. Many a times I myself had a person traveling by themselves pass out or become very ill and we didn't know what was happening until the individual had medical help or got over the attack. The Stat-Pack costs $5.00 per person and if you have to do any international traveling where language might be a problem; I would say this is a must and then should be kept right in your passport. For more information either contact your travel agency or Stat-Pack directly, 252 B. Concord Road, Aston, Pa.

HOMETOWN NEWS

Eve January plays role in Rockford College show

Eve January, Route 2, Box 29, Antioch, a Rockford College junior majoring in education, plays the role of the Centurian in the student production of "Androcles and the Lion," a fable play by George Bernard Shaw.

The play is set for February 8 and 9 in Cheek Experimental Theatre of the Clark Arts Center. The Shaw play embellishes the fable about the Christian named Androcles who removes a thorn from the paw of a lion and later is befriended by the lion who refuses to attack him in the Colosseum. It is the first Three Penny Theatre production of the spring semester.

All Three Penny productions are selected and produced by Rockford College students who are members of a theatre arts course called Three Penny Theatre. Plays given during the fall semester included "Endgame," "Picnic On the Battlefield," "Interview," and "The Birthday Party."

Area students on SIU Deans List

Undergraduate students whose grades place them on the Deans' List at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale for work completed during the fall quarter included: Steven R. Strang, P.O. Box 15, Antioch; Emilie D. Babcox, RFD 4, Wayne F. Bentel 179-7 Evergreen Terrace, and Linda Susan Haxel, all of Lake Villa; Gloria A. Friebolin 2310 Grand Ave., and Gary P. Lischewski 2314 Carriage Lane both of Lindenhurst.

Deans' List students totalling 3,929, or 24 percent of the student body, achieved at least a 4.25 grade average on a 5.0 scale while taking 12 hours or more of course work.

Jane Wierschem & Craig Gabbert on Carthage Honors List

Exactly 10 percent (126 students) of Carthage College's full-time student body of 1,260 made the coveted Honors List for the first term of the 1973-74 school year.

The Honors List includes those full-time students who have completed at least 32 graded credits in residence and whose cumulative grade-point average is 3.4 or better (4.0 equals 'A') and who have completed 16 credits in the previous term.

Carthage previously had an Honors List and a Dean's List, but the college abolished the latter category and tightened up its academic standards for the exclusive Honors List. As usual, Wisconsin and Illinois led all states with 67 and 45 students, respectively, on the Honors List at Carthage.

Two Antioch residents on the Honors List are: Craig Gabbert, senior (Taft H.S. grad), the son of Kathryn Kulach of 817 Hillandale Drive, Antioch, Ill.; Jane Wierschem, senior (Waukegan H.S. grad) resides at 590 Phillip Circle, Antioch, Ill.

4-H sports continues

Roller skating, ice skating, bowling, and snowmobiling are all regular projects in the 4-H program now, according to Youth Advisers Marilyn Jones and Bill Messerschmidt. These projects are a part of the new look in 4-H to complement the traditional projects in animals, cooking and sewing.

Youngsters between the ages of 9 and 19 years still have time in 1974 to enroll in 4-H and take the bowling project. Roller skating and snowmobiling have been completed while ice skating is in its final phase.

Businesses provide their facilities for many projects. Three bowling establishments are cooperating with this bowling event: Bertrand Lanes of Waukegan, Antioch Bowl, and 3-D Bowl in Island Lake. The Antioch News SPORTS

Soph wrestlers are N.W.S.C. champs

On Saturday, February 9, 1974 the Antioch Sophomore Wrestling Sequoits traveled to Round Lake for the season ending unofficial N.W.S.C. sophomore wrestling tournament. For an unprecedented fourth year in a row, the Antioch Sophomores came home with the first-place trophy. The tourney victory capped a great season which saw the Sequoits win 18 matches against only 1 loss.

N.W.S.C. Sophomore Team Scores: First, Antioch, 86; Second, Grant, 81; Third, Wauconda, 59½; Fourth, Warren, 55; Fifth, Grayslake, 46; Sixth, Woodstock, 43½; Seventh, Lake Zurich, 38; Eighth, Cary Grove, 29; Ninth, Round Lake, 27½; Tenth, Stevenson, 18.

The first round of the tournament was all Antioch as the Sequoits advanced eleven of a possible twelve wrestlers and had ten pins. At this point it looked as though the Sequoits couldn't be stopped. In the second round, the Antioch fortunes took a complete reversal with seven Sequoits getting beat and only four having a chance for individual championships. While Antioch was faltering, the Grant Bulldogs were advancing seven wrestlers to the finals, and two more for possible third place honors. With the Bulldogs now ahead in the team score and with a possibility for even more points, it appeared that the Sequoit championship-string was coming to an end.

In the final round, there was still another unbelievable reversal of events. Grant High School lost seven of the eight championship matches, and both of their third place matches; while Antioch was winning three of four championship matches and two third place matches. The ability of the Sequoits to outscore Grant 13-3 in the final round was enough to give Antioch a narrow 5 point win. Coach Wapon felt that the turning-point in the tournament came early in the final round: "I believe that the turning point came after John Davis, Greg Nordstrom, Rich Coles, and Mike Walsh all defeated top Grant wrestlers in head-to-head competition. After four close losses, nothing went right for Grant and that cost the Bulldogs the tournament. I also think Antioch wrestlers, cheerleaders, and mat-maids demonstrated such great spirit, and that really helped when the going was the toughest!"

Rollie Schleusner "Beat The Champ" finalist

Rollie Schleusner, drafting teacher and sophomore football coach at ACHS, is a semi-finalist in the Sun-Times 13th Annual Beat The Champions bowling contest. He bowled a 650 series on Sunday at the 3-D Bowling Lanes in Island Lake to take sixth place. There are 32 men finalists that will compete next Sunday at the Suburbanite Bowl in Westmont. First prize is a 1974 Mercury Montego. All 32 finalists will receive a prize.

Schleusner entered the contest along with 998 other league bowlers (men and women) at the Antioch Bowling Lanes. To enter each contestant must pay 50 cents and his score is sent in to the Sun Times. Two professional bowlers, Dave Soutar and Dottie Fother, bowled 3 games and their scores had to be beat. This is a charitable tournament and after it is all over, part of the money is returned to the areas from which contestants participated. Last year $150.00 came back to Antioch and was divided between the Little League, Fire Department and Rescue Squad.

Several other Antioch bowlers had high enough scores to enter the contest but were not as fortunate as Rollie in the end.

Rollie and his wife bowl on Wednesday evenings in the mixed couples league at the Antioch Bowling Lanes. They are part of the Antioch Savings and Loan team.

Sequoits nip Blue Devils

The Antioch Sequoits traveled to Warren Friday evening and survived a real tough game, beating the Blue Devils 54-49.

With Warren hitting well from the field, during the first quarter, they opened up a nine point lead at one time and the quarter ended 17-10 in Warren's favor. The Sequoits just couldn't find the basket and hit only 3 of 19 shots, with many rolling around and out. Warren was really up for the game, they showed a lot of hustle and drive, and were very strong on the boards.

In the second quarter, the Sequoits settled down, starting to work for better shots, they hit 7 of 13 and outscored Warren 16 to 12. As the half finished the Sequoits still trailed - but only by three 29-26. The rebounding and defense of Antioch also tightened up during the quarter. Mike Gutowski lead the scoring in the first half for the Sequoits as he had nine points, he also sat out about 3 minutes as he had four fouls.

In the third quarter, Coach Andrews had the team use a different offense, which resulted in many easy baskets as Warren couldn't adjust to the change. The scoring was done by six members of the team as Antioch outscored Warren 17-0 during the quarter. The Sequoits hit 8 of 16 shots during the quarter.

During the early going of the fourth quarter, the Sequoits continued their good play and stretched their 4 point lead to nine points with 2:57 left in the game. It was during this last three minutes that the team really didn't play well. "We changed our offense to open up the court and wanted to hit the open man under the basket, but the team just never saw the open man, down under," accorded Coach Andrews. "We have worked on the open court offense several times, but we just didn't look under the basket, we choked, something we shouldn't do," "We also missed too many free throws in the last three minutes" added

Coach Andrews.

The Antioch heroes were Mike Gutowski who lead the Sequoits in scoring and settled down in the second half playing a fine floor game and Mark Andrews who had a super floor game with 8 recoveries, a new school record, 11 assists as he hit the open well, and lead the team in rebounds with 11 boards. The reserve play of Kevin Walpole and John Janosko was very good too, as they replaced a couple of players that were in foul trouble - according to Coach Andrews, "they both filled in very well and did the job when called upon to do it."

"We are very happy to get out of Warren with a win - they played very tough - it was a hard fought game. This Tinsley for Warren played a great game and he was a thorn in our side all night," added the Sequoit mentor.

The next games for the Antioch Sequoits will be this Friday and Saturday night - as both games are away - at North Chicago and Woodstock. There was a very good Antioch crowd at Warren, it is a real good feeling to the Sequoit team to have a fine backing - thanks much to the Antioch Fans.

Conference Standings:

Antioch 9-0; Grant 7-2; Lake Zurich 6-3; Round Lake 5-4; Warren 5-4; Wauconda 5-4; Cary Grove 4-5; Woodstock 3-6; Stevenson 1-8; Grayslake 0-9.

Hockey teams practice at Kenosha Ice Arena

The 1974 ice hockey teams from the Hastings YMCA ice hockey program travelled to the Kenosha Ice Arena this past week for a practice session and inter-squad games.

The senior division, made up of boys ranging in age from 14-16 scrimmaged to a 3-1 final score. Goal tenders Bob Rendow and Ben Atchley played in goal, turning aside many hard shots. This tight checking game also saw many fine plays with defensemen Ken Bloom and Rus Benthley playing exceptionally well.

The junior teams made up of boys ages 11 thru 13 played a 2-2 tie game. The Hawks were outplayed and outscored in the first period but came back in the final period with break-away goals by Bob Skopek and Kevin Murphy to tie the game in the final minutes. The Bruins played well offensively with Glenn Samson and Paul Steiert moving the puck aggressively and each scoring a goal.

The boys in the program will be practicing at their new lighted community ice hockey rink at Camp Hastings YMCA and with continued cold weather, it is hoped these boys will play many more games.

For more information contact Hank Bessler, Hastings YMCA director at 356-5487.

Emmons mauls Grass Lake

Emmons School played near perfect basketball in the first half and exploded to a 32-6 halftime lead. The first half was all Emmons as they out shot their opponents 14 field goals to 3. John Eder and Bill Strzelecki each hit for three baskets before John Lass connected for the Braves first two points. From this point Emmons coasted to a 52-30 win.

Guard John Eder lead his team in points with a season high of 17. Eder added to this his usual fine floor game directing the Emmons offense. Hustling on defense Eder made four steals and contributed three assists. The Raiders were led in rebounds by Bill Dubek with 10 while Tracy Sodman added 9. Dubek also hit in double figures with 16 points.

The Emmons B team also won 24-18. Nic Carl of Emmons dominated play and carried game scoring honors with 13. Pat Sakorski bagged 5 field goals for the losing Braves.

7th grade cagers fall to Gavin

The 7th grade basketball team travelled to Gavin last Thursday. It was all over in the first half. Gavin outscored Antioch 26 to 5. The small home court of Gavin gave Antioch trouble and took some getting adjusted to. That wasn't the only problem. We missed too many free throws, 15 of 20, and too many easy lay-ups. The only consolation the 7th graders had was outscoring Gavin 18 to 14 in the second half. Final score Gavin 40-Antioch 23.
